When William and Mary go

About the theme of the 1949 ECHO—William and Mary's 1948 Varsity Show, Take Your Time, produced a song about a boy, William, and a girl, Mary, on a carousel. The song was published by Broadcast Music, Incorporated. Partly because it is the first popular tune to be associated with the college, partly because it was written by a student and mostly because it is a gay and spirited song, "William and Mary Go-Round" is accorded a permanent place in the 1949 annual.

Dedication

Because he is untiringly willing to assist the students in the major and minor crises of their college careers; because he has been eminently successful in the double capacity of Dean of Students and Acting Registrar; and because he knows so much of the traditions past and present that are a part of William and Mary; we dedicate the 1949 COLONIAL ECHO to J. Wilfred Lambert with our sincere thanks.

SENIORS

HIGHLIGHT OF THE YEAR

Perhaps the highlight of the 1948-49 year at William and Mary was the 7-7 tie with North Carolina's mighty Tarheel football team. The few students who did not make the trip to Chapel Hill to see the game, listened anxiously to their radios on Saturday and then waited joyously for Sunday to welcome the returning heroes.

T O T H E C L A S S O F 1 9 4 9

The Class of 1949 is unique in several respects. Its history began at the close of World War II when a great tide of veterans reentered the College. During your four years the men's enrollment tripled, and the student body for the first time exceeded two thousand. The number graduating in June, approximately four hundred, makes the graduating class the largest ever. It is unlikely that this figure will be exceeded for many years. A preponderance of those graduating in June, 1949, are veterans whose attendance was interrupted by the war. The College now rides on a more even keel than at any time during the turbulent years since 1941.

With this valedictory, I am taking the liberty of wishing each of you the fulfillment of your highest ambition, and of expressing the hope that each will in some measure contribute to the fund of human happiness. The College will long remember you.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

C. WARREN SMITH
President of The Student Body

The Student Assembly

The Student Government this year investigated any and everything—the cafeteria conditions, the problem of the William and Mary Band, strived for better cooperation between the students and their government, and delved into many other problems too numerous to mention here. For the first time, the Student Government, with cooperation from all campus organizations and other individuals, sponsored the Homecoming activities, which proved to be a big success and prophesied better Homecomings in the future. At long last a permanent Student Government office has been established on the third floor of Marshall-Wythe for the benefit of the students. It caters to the clubs on campus who use its mailbox facilities and there find information in regard to their organizations and their relationship to Student Government. The leaders of Student Government and other councils are aided by the secretary in handling the paper work connected with their jobs, and the individual students can find there the answers to their queries on elections, SG officers, SG technicalities, etc. The office also helps those active on campus who use it for a clearing house for their various projects.

Its latest project is one which will give to the students a better all around curriculum through a system of student-faculty seminars to evaluate the benefits of the courses now offered.

MEN'S HONOR COUNCIL

The Men's Honor Council is the body which investigates and tries reported breaches of the Honor Code at William and Mary, where the Honor System was put into effect in 1779. It was the first organization of its type at an American college.

The group is in no sense a governing body, but does seek to encourage, by a positive program, the advancement of the ideals of the System with orientation and other forms of education. Within itself, the Council makes an effort to keep up with the times insofar as is consistent with the principles of honesty to which the William and Mary student is expected to adhere.

Students are expected to comply with the Honor Code which prohibits lying, cheating, and stealing.

Chairman of the Honor Council for 1948-49 was Warren Sprouse, with George Fricke as vice-president, and Bill Greer as secretary. Other members were Bill Lucas, Chet Giermak, Gene Rambacher, and Cris Moe. The members are elected by a vote of the entire male student body. Three members each are chosen from the senior and junior classes and one from the sophomore class.

HOUSE PRESIDENTS

The Women Students' Cooperative Government Association was organized to further self-government and student responsibility in the management of our affairs. The success of the three student councils depends upon each member's assumption of responsibility and cooperation in the spirit and ideals of the organization. Our aims can be accomplished only by the efforts of the women students to keep this association worthy of their confidence. Student government exists because we believe in it and strive to maintain it at a high level of efficiency.

Upon her entrance in college each woman automatically becomes a member of W. S. C. G. A. Its work is carried on through three councils of elected representatives: the Executive council, the Judicial committee and the Honor committee. A faculty committee composed of Dr. Adair, Dr. Fowler, and Dr. Taylor is selected by the councils and meets with the Executive and Judicial councils to coordinate the ideals of the faculty, administration, and students.

The first Monday of each month is devoted to discussing the business of W. S. C. G. A. in meetings in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. This year the meetings have been capably conducted by Dotsy Thedieck, president. Speakers are introduced, new legislation is started, discussed by the women and sent to proper channels, and announcements are made. Other members of the council were Nancy Kurtz, vice-president; Nicky Dillard, secretary; Sara Enos, treasurer; Betty Hicks and Bev Luther, representatives at large; and Rusty Davis, freshman representative.

Following a precedent set three years ago, members of the council attended the convention of the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Governments, held this year at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Virginia.

WOMEN STUDENTS' CO-OPERATIVE

THE HONOR COUNCIL

On the belief that every student, upon reaching college age possesses honesty and integrity, the men of the college of William and Mary founded the first Honor System in 1779. Since this date, many other colleges and universities have adopted similar systems. The System plays an integral part in college life, both inside and outside of the classroom.

Upon matriculation here at the college, the student is entitled to the privileges of the system, and in return accepts the obligations of maintaining and upholding the principles of the Honor Code. Violations of the Code include lying, cheating, stealing, and failure to report an offense, and are punishable in extreme cases by dismissal from college.

Breaches of the Honor Code are tried before the seven members of the Honor Council, who are elected by the student body. The Women's Honor Council is not a governing body; rather, it investigates and tries cases placed before it.

In reporting breaches the student has one of two alternatives: he may challenge the student accused and offer him a chance to resign from college immediately, or to report himself to the Honor Council.

If the accused fails to report himself, the accuser is obliged to notify the Council right away. On the other hand, the student may report the suspect directly to the Honor Council. Anyone accused of a violation of the Honor Code is entitled to a fair trial.

All scholastic work, whether in the classroom or not, comes under the Honor System. Reporting an offense should not be thought of as "tattling." It is merely protecting our college community against persons who disregard and have no respect for the Honor Code under which we live.

This year, Carol Achenbach was chairman, assisted by Patsy Jones, secretary; Senior members, Tuga Wilson, and El Pendleton; Junior members, Yvonne Hickey and Barbara Campbell; and Sophomore member, Lee Renander.

THE JUDICIAL COMMITTEE

The Judicial Committee is the body which administers the rules set up by the Women Students' Co-operative Government. Its activities are not limited to regulatory functions, however. The Judicial Committee has attempted through educational means to arouse interest and personal responsibility toward student government in each of the women students. That has been the keynote of the Judicial program for the year. The entire foundation for women's student government rests upon the individual interest of the women who make up its body. None of the committees which compose the structure of student government is able to take any effective action without this cooperation.

The three presidents of the large dormitories are members of the Judicial Committee and form the best channel between students and the committee. Any student who feels a rule is unnecessary or unfair may suggest a change in the regular student government meeting. If the motion passes, then it is referred to the Judicial Committee and their advisors who may pass it subject to administrative approval.

The committee tries to serve the women students and the campus at large. The only way this purpose can be accomplished is with each woman's help.

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

The Publications Committee elects the editors of the three student publications as well as the business managers of the COLONIAL ECHO and of the Flat Hat. In addition, the Committee reviews the elections and appointments of other staff members. Meeting once a month, the Committee concerns itself with staff organization and cooperation. It has no voice in the editorial policy of any student publication.

This year's Publication Committee was composed of Dr. Douglas Adair, elected by the Student Assembly; Dr. D. W. Woodbridge, representing the Student Activities Committee; Joan Felix, editor of the Flat Hat; Richard Bethards, editor of the Royalist; Jean Foote, editor of the COLONIAL ECHO; Warren Smith, president of the student body; Nicky Dillard, chairman, and Walter Raymond, secretary.

ELAINE CAMPION, Managing Editor
JOAN FELIX, Editor-in-chief

"Just think, kids! Only twenty-eight more issues to go," cried Managing Editor Elaine Campion, ink-smeared to the elbows, on that hot afternoon in September when the Flat Hat's orientation week issue went to press.

Twenty-eight issues later, with the paper officially put to bed until another year, the ink-smeared editors found they had much to remember.

"Who stole the cokes out of the morgue file?" "Can't anyone get down to the Gazette at 8 a.m. on Tuesdays?" "Don't forget to count your words!" "But I can't continue backwards!" "Got room for another ad?" "Where are the chairs?"

These and similar comments echo and re-echo throughout the publication office on Friday and Saturday afternoons—and even an occasional Sunday morning—through the year.

News Editor Jan Walser, who is invariably besieged with copy when there is no advertising and vainly tries to manufacture some when the ads are rolling in, enters the conversation with an innocent, "Is that a joke?"

"Ronnie King's last column? Oh, I filed that under 'S,'" says Eva Barron, Morgue Editor, as she leaves to go cook dinner.

"How many pages can you use?" Joan Carpenter, ruler in hand and make-up sheets spread before her, asks of Sports Editor Bill Greer.

"Twelve," Bill's voice emerges from a cloud of cigar smoke. "Who reads the rest of the paper anyway?"

"Save some of it for the feature on Mrs. Applebee," begs Dolores Huette, crusader for women's sports.

Business Manager Lou Bailey lounges full-length on his desk, plugging for his sensational exposés and vying with little Lou Hostetter, features editor, for Friday afternoon possession of the phone.

JUNIOR STAFF EDITORS
Standing: Walser, Greer, Carpenter.

The last headline written, the last piece of copy checked, we take off for a Sunday afternoon's play before moving to the Virginia Gazette, where the paper is printed, after classes on Monday morning.

"These heads don't fit. I can't spend all my time resetting heads!" Mr. Kinzer, make-up man, brings us down to earth with a jolt, and we set to work. Mr. Stone and Mr. Silvers, linotype operators extraordinary, reset the galley we mutilate.

Correcting miles of galley proofs, generally juggling and pieing type, slugging corrections, we get in everyone's way and are constantly interrupted by Mac, the press man, inquiring, "When are you going to belch forth your fiery message?"

Rogues Samuel and John wander in to check proof on their latest brain child. Hugh Haynie, our cartoonist with the flair for prophesy, collects numerous proofs of his latest work of art to send home to the folks in Reedville.

"Are we coming out on time tonight?" queries Bill Bogg, Circulation Manager, primed to deliver all 1900 issues promptly at 7 p.m.

Tuesday afternoon at 1:59, the editors relax for the first time since Friday afternoon. (Please note: we study on Wednesdays and Thursdays.) Mac is locking up when Editor-in-Chief Jody rushes in exclaiming, "Tear up the front page! The cafeteria has just lowered the price of spaghetti and meatballs!"

The editors remember with gratitude the make-up staff, busily writing headlines; the faithful reporters doing leg-work from one end of the campus to the other; the circulation staff folding stack after stack of papers; the ad staff canvassing the town merchants; the advice and help of Mr. Gibbs, the Publications and Student Fees Committee and the Flat Hat faculty advisors; the cooperation of our contributors. We've had a lot of fun and, with twenty-nine issues behind us, offer wishes for success to the staff of 1949-50.

Editor

The Royalist underwent a few reforms this year. Our editor, Dick Bethards revised and streamlined the staff page; Sam Blaisdell, our Art Editor, designed a new head cut for the "Contents" page; and finances dictated that the magazine be held together with staples instead of glue. The Lecture Leavenings feature was omitted because the faculty members were saying the same funny things this year that they said last year; and we dared to print a Business Department term paper (with footnotes) in the second issue, and people actually read it. And then there was that controversial little opus called Cat House Blues.

Mr. Melville Jones of the English Department is due our special thanks. In the role of unofficial advisor for the Royalist, Mr. Jones has been invaluable in helping us solve the problems that have arisen. Our thanks are also due the other professors in the English Department; and we hereby apologize for hounding them to get material. As one professor put it, "I can't go through the hall in Wren without having some girl rise up out of the gloom and plead for 'material.' But even that professor seemed to enjoy cooperating with us.

Staff meetings have usually been coke bottle and blue smoke affairs, with the added spice of Pattie Lambert's apt barbs. Boynton, though he managed to win most of the poetry prizes in our contests, was obscure; Beatty, though he was here only the first semester, was obscene; and Trask, though we teased her about it, was delightfully enthusiastic. In fact, though, with Garrison and Butts weighing in on the serious side of the table, and Stringham trying not to be frivolous, the meetings have been fairly sober affairs. But dinners at the Greeks after six on Thursday have been a bit more jocular even when Moe had fight with the waitress.

We hope also that we have accomplished our purpose which we stated in the first issue last fall. That was: "to publish the best of the . . . material which you submit to us . . . to present a cross section of what is being written on campus . . ." and to try to please each of you with at least a part of what we publish. Whether or not we did accomplish that end, we enjoyed trying.

The COLONIAL

This corpulent volume whose pages you flip so carelessly was not always so plump. In fact—it was not always! There were times when, as a staff, we wondered if it would ever be at all! These were the times that it rained five days in a row, or the times that the copy came bouncing back as fast as we mailed it . . . These were the times that J. C. kept right on going to classes—even though she had to proof copy during the lectures . . . the times that the Art staff ravaged the library for just anything that looked like a carousel—They found a silver one pinned to a young lady's sweater outside of Psychology 201 two weeks after all hope was gone.

It went on from here—the Art staff: Sue Wiprud, Jean Garbert and Bobbie Lamont, under watchful Bill Williams, set out to do torturous hours of lettering—once, twice, a dozen times until perfect. Ted Arnheiter came through with clever cartoons for the divisional pages, and Hugh Haynie did the sports' cartooning.

Then came the pictures—Mary Wilcox, abetted by Betty Hayes and "Fearless" Bud Bridges put this year's COLONIAL ECHO on the map—photographically speaking, with more and more informal pictures.

Afternoons they trailed "Dodging Doug" Green, photographer, and evenings—especially Tuesdays—they cased Marshall-Wythe for vacant work rooms. Attitudes developed from this unhealthy life—captions don't have to make sense as long as they are captions, and in case of precipitation, don't be upset, just postpone.

Then came the rain—rainy days usually have a depressing effect, but nobody ever felt as low as Johnny Wright of the Organization Staff on rainy days! Rescheduling—"Have a class then," "The deadline's Monday!" "Going away this weekend"—we're still wondering if all the pictures were taken. It was fun, though, really a terrific staff this year—no one had too much to do! Two old members were back, ready and willing to take down names again. Thanks Gretch and Adelaide. Marie, the two Joans, Virginia, Pat, Doris, Carolyn, Elizabeth, Eustie, Marilyn, Mary, and last but not least Bob, were our newcomers, who did enthusiastically all that they were asked to do—and more.

Then came the deadlines—even though the very smallest possible percentage of copy came in on time, the Make-Up Staff finally got everything ready for publication with a minimum of breakdowns and lost friendships. "Cut this one," "pad this one," "rewrite that monstrosity" were key words as the little gremlins sat down to correct an amazing harvest of grammatical errors and freak constructions. Nan J. read with prowess and corrected unmercifully. Brownie, Nancy, Vann, Ella, and Jeannette typed diligently. Helen, Suzita, Susan, and Jeanne proofed and reproofed. Though they thought the end would never come, it did when Sue Hines, the power behind the wheel, found herself with that rare commodity—time for study. Profit of the year—not one of the gremlins looks at a printed page without a head bowed in reverence.

The class staff under Ann Cleaver and her henchmen, Henry Pinsker and Tommy Banks, organized the fraternity, sorority, and class sections. Joan Kohler and Stevie Bartlett spent tedious hours getting copy ready for the printer, while Ginny Flaherty, Ann Beattie, and Sally McGuire got glossies off to Lynchburg. Dot, Nancy, Commie, Ann W. and Betsy S. were the typing corps. They heaved a loud sigh when another class section went to the printers and another editor began to count grey hairs.

Then came the sports—a banner year for W. & M. athletics added to the confusion confronting the ECHO Sports Staff. There were more activities to cover than ever before: eight varsity sports, intramurals, freshmen athletes, and women's sports. The entire staff worked to get in the write-ups and to beat the deadline with a not always so merry chase for pictures and copy. Five men assisted Walt Raymond in the section. Don Ashby worked on the intramural and swimming sections; Gurn Blackwell, on basketball; Bob Carter, on cross country and track; Bob Mead, baseball and golf; Bruce Robinson, tennis; and Hugh Haynie came through with our cartoons. Hardest job of the year—women's sports, which took the combined effort of the staff.

Then came the money—which is called in the best yearbook circles, the Business Staff. With Ginny Lore the battle cry from September to April was, "We just have to have that money in—everything depends on it; no money—no books!" With a formidable following—El Pendleton, Assistant; Phyll DeHaven, Junior Staff assistant; and lots of "faithfuls:" Ann, Evie, Mickey, J. Marianne, Nancy, Barbara, Kathryn and Harry—we collected our money, got our patrons and paid our bills.

There it is: copy, pictures, proofing, reading, deadlines, and money.

And then 60 days later—

Then came the 1949 ECHO!

FEATURES

Miss Jean Foote

1949 Colonial Echo

Williamsburg, Virginia

Dear Miss Foote:

You really gave us quite a task—all the Virginia girls are beautiful. And you didn't say how many we could choose, so we picked up to five.

That Hope was smart, getting out of town and giving us all the responsibility.

Had to consult with Wally Westmore, Paramount makeup expert. It's difficult to tell about profile, full face, and teeth from just one photo.

Hope nobody gets hurt—they are all lovely girls.

Sincerely,

BING CROSBY.

NOTE: In our original plans, Bob Hope was to join Bing Crosby in judging the 1949 Colonial Echo Beauties. Unfortunately he was on an eastern tour at the time of the judging. This explains Mr. Crosby's reference to Mr. Hope in the above letter.

VIRGINIA KAPPA CHAPTER

The Sig Alphas, stimulated by Richmond Alums, and led by prexy Bob Steckroth, finagled flashy furnishings for the new abode . . . brothers Woolley, Sherman, and Pierce established as residents.

Athletics: Among Minerva's boys on the Rube's Big Green —Lou Hoitsma, Tommy Thompson, Jack Cloud, Jack Bruce, George Hughes, Pat Haggerty, Buddy Lex, Joe Mark, Randy Davis, George Heflin, Bob Rienert, plus a pair of worthless managers . . . basketball—SAE's Bunting, Holley, Ozenberger, McMillan, and Benjamin . . . Bill Lucas and Jack Hogan did a great job as intramural managers, with Doc White, Paul Walzak, Joe Giordano, and associates scoring a near-miss in touch football . . . Ed. Pierce a cheerleader.

Homecoming: The judges didn't realize that the "girls" obtained their aesthetic training on the Yorktown Riviera and that the hot quintet of Brothers Ball, Beatty, Indence, Kelly, and McCaskey, had received rafts of raves at the Blue Goose.

Rushing: Rush week, arranged by Jim Elliott, George Fricke (Phi Beta, no less), and Red Sheehan, resulted in Captain Woolley receiving twenty-seven peerless pledges.

Student Activities: Cheers for Dick Lewis, frosh class president; Jack Morgan and Bud Grady, president and vice president, respectively, of the sophs; Jere Bunting, Roy Slezak and Dave Wakefield, assemblymen; Bill Lucas and George Fricke, honor councilmen; and Fred Kovaleski, Lou Hoitsma, and Bob Steckroth of ODK.

Parties: Goodies for all at the Shelter . . . Jean Canoles crowned Virginia Kappa's Sweetheart at Great Hall Christmas dance . . . eggnog and presents for the li'l brothers . . . excellent planning by Ed Ward and John Clauer.

With no reservations, this year was the BEST!!

ALPHA ZETA CHAPTER

Dear Troops:

"It's been another long, but great year for Alpha Zeta. We've had some swell times together, such as Homecoming, Rush Week, Mid-Winters in particular, and weekends in general.

Remember "Salty" and his noticeable lack of hero stories? Adams and his direct line to the Pi Phi House—shared by Schofield? "Bee Bop" and Monday nights? And Roy and Clarence eyeing said House while quietly burning? Frank and Duke dropped everything when spring came. Didn't Odell give 'em hell?—he claimed the woods deserved a break even in eight inches of snow. "Harpo" came through with his phosphorescent Christmas tree Phi Beta key. How about the M. I. T. boys?—they should be in line for a degree in "Good-Gawd 407." "J. P." Duborg was the chapter lifesaver many times—thanks, "Lockbox." Pinky and Buddy, splitting bottle deposit profits, (worked it like masters). Wonder what happened to Kelso's vocabulary?

Seems like Cliff, Lew, and Bitsy have finally given up their boisterous ways—shows what a little application will do. Jackson seems to be the same "schmooth" guy as always. Why doesn't Herb get a leash for that seal he's always carrying around? Remember when "Lambchop" lost his pants? Hart should sell all his pipes at a buck per and retire a millionaire. Guess White is convinced that weekends are with us for keeps. Why isn't "Steamboat" a dreamboat any more? Doll gave up his Epsilon idea—too many applicants. "Lauritz" Sprouse improves every day.

Good luck next year!

Fraternally,

"Lift that chair! Vacuum that rug! February graduation—end of Dave Henritze's gavel rapping to the regret of the Brotherhood, but to the relief of the furniture maintenance committee . . . when Gene Rambacher took over, Phi Tau carried on in splendid style . . . Are kisses in order for Cal Coghill, man behind the bank balance . . . Dayton and Banks, master furniture craftsmen . . . Les Olsen, human typewriter and addressograph . . . Freddy Morion, Johnny Warner—music-minded men . . . and for the whole crew for completing the work that our beloved Athey began . . . graduation losses will be blows . . . twenty-five men are hard to replace anytime, but twenty-five Phi Taus? . . . hard to visualize our lowly pledges as being capable of that much improvement . . . we had a helluva good time in '48 and '49!!

The INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council is composed of the eleven social fraternities. Each fraternity is represented at the Council by its president and one delegate. The Council governs conduct of the individual chapters, fosters beneficial relations among chapters, and functions as a link between fraternity men and the college by providing a common medium through which to act.

The fraternity system had its biggest year in the history of this college under the able leadership of Joseph Smith, President, Phi Alpha, and Edgar Wayland, Secretary-Treasurer, Pi Kappa Alpha. The fraternities moved into their new lodges and set a precedent for good fellowship and general co-operativeness that will endure for years to come.

First Row: Cline, Deavers, Baxley, Williamson, Curry. Second Row: Barnes, Black, Moore, Renninger, Allenbaugh. Third Row: Walker, Hayes, Flaherty.

The Pan-Hellenic Council consists of two delegates from each of the nine sororities and, as a representative body, is a forum for the discussion of questions of interest to the college and fraternity world. It endeavors to cooperate with the National Pan-Hellenic Congress in maintaining high ideals of scholarship and of inter-sorority relations within the college.

One of the main functions of the Council is to compile rules governing rushing, pledging, and initiation for the sorority women on campus. The Council annually awards a plaque to the sorority whose pledge class attains the highest scholastic average.

The officers for 1948-49 were Alice Baxley, president; Bonnie Renninger, secretary; Anne Williamson, treasurer; and Skippy Deavers, social chairman. The faculty officers of the Council are Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts and Dean John E. Hocutt.

THE MORTAR BOARD

Mortar Board, the National senior honor society for women, was founded at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1918. The Alpha Club on the campus of William and Mary was the forerunner of the local chapter which became a member of the national organization in 1928.

The purpose of Mortar Board is to "provide for the cooperation between societies, to promote college loyalty, to advance the spirit of service and fellowship among university women, to maintain a high standard of scholarship, to recognize and encourage leadership, and to stimulate and develop a finer type of college woman."

In the spring, the outstanding junior women are honored on the basis of service, scholarship, and leadership in college life. Mortar Board members they carry evidence of a successful, well-rounded college life.

Mortar Boards assist'd with the fall orientation program, conducted the tutoring bureau, repeated a spring training program for campus officers, gave several "smarty parties" honoring high scholastic achievement, awarded a scholarship plaque to the Sophomore with the highest average, and initiated the campus sale of "Sweet Meats."

The German Club was organized a number of years ago for the purpose of sponsoring two semi-formal coed dances a year. Mrs. John E. Pomfret is the club's sponsor. Each girl who joins the German Club receives a membership card which entitles her to buy tickets at reduced prices and to enjoy the privileges of the club.

The Evergreen Ball was held just before Christmas vacation in the Pagoda Room, with a rendition of two solos and a group carol sing as the entertainment. A second dance was held in the Spring.

The success of the German Club's dances depends upon each member's cooperation and contributions of ingenuity and workmanship.

The Centurion Club, an organization of the top-ranking cadets in the ROTC, is devoted to furthering interest in the military department. Since its founding one year ago, its most notable achievement has been the ROTC information program carried on during registration for the incoming freshmen. This year's program also included items of a social nature.

The Backdrop Club, producers of the annual student written, directed, produced musical, was first organized in the spring of 1938 when three industrious, theatre-minded students, got together and decided to put on a show.

Since that time the Varsity Show has grown in popularity to be the largest, and perhaps most active organization on campus. With over a hundred members actively engaged in putting on the show, The Backdrop Club's musical has been filling Phi Beta Kappa auditorium to capacity at every performance.

Starting in 1938 with SPRING CLEANING, then followed by SET TO MUNICH; TAKE A DEEP BREATH; PEACE BROTHER, IT'S WONDERFUL . . . The Varsity Show became an annual event at William and Mary until the war period.

Following the war only a few of the old members remained in college, but these few re-organized the Backdrop Club in 1946, and hit the campus in the late spring of 1947 with THE HEATS ON. The Revue was an immense success, and the Backdrop Club was firmly re-established at William and Mary.

Last year the Backdrop Club returned with a bigger and better show TAKE YOUR TIME. Once again the show followed the revue format so successful in THE HEATS ON. With Ronald King as producer (who had been so instrumental in the re-establishment of the Backdrop Club productions), Wilford Leach served as designer and co-director, and Jean Cutler as Dance Director . . . all veterans of THE HEATS ON.

The show proved a hit not only in Williamsburg, but in Richmond's WRVA Theatre. With a pair of twins (the Brays) playing one character, a mad female scientist with a time machine, TAKE YOUR TIME, galloped through history from Adam and Eve to Napoleon at Waterloo, from Columbus discovering America to Lillian Russell's bedroom.

This year the Backdrop Club decided to try something new. Discarding the revue format, the club undertook a musical comedy, CARRY ME BACK . . . a production with the most exciting music, the largest cast, and most unique script, in Backdrop Club history. Ben Johnston did the entire score, with lyrics by Wilford Leach and Ben Johnston.

The script of CARRY ME BACK concerned a period which the authors termed "roughly colonial times," and featured Governor Botetourt, Sir Christopher Wren, President Hanybottem, Ben Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, and a bevy of historically correct beautiful girls. The scripters (Glenn Garrison, Bill Harper, and Wilford Leach) called for extensive scenery, designed by Vann Rhodes. Bill Harper, new to the Backdrop Club in TAKE YOUR TIME as the bewildered Columbus, served as producer.

Two standbys from the renaissance of the Backdrop Club following the war, once again were most active in the production. The entire show was directed by Wilford Leach, who had served two years as designer, and two years as director and co-author of the V-shows. Dances were by Jean V. Cutler, serving his third year as dance director.

The music for the show ranging from haunting harmonics to boogie woogie, from folk-type tunes, and the Gilbert & Sullivanesque, was contracted for by Broadcast Music, Inc., which published a half-dozen songs from the show.

Now the Backdrop Club looks forward to a new year with no idea of who, what, or where it'll be about . . . the only thing they're sure of, is a capacity audience when the 1950 edition of the Varsity Show opens in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

When the campus' Reserve Officers Training Corps suspended its activities for the summer after its first year of operation in 1948, it found only 36 men registered in the course which leads to an Army commission. This year, however, between the efforts of the returning cadets in providing information for incoming freshmen and the return of selective service, the first muster found 185 members including 40 at the college's Norfolk Division.

Colonel Giles R. Carpenter, professor of military science and tactics. Colonel Carpenter, a West Point graduate, commanded artillery units of the famed 42nd (Rainbow) Division during World War II and also was military commander of Salzburg, Austria while serving with occupation forces.

One summer period of six weeks duration is required of seniors in the course. William and Mary's first contingent to go to summer ROTC camp was composed of thirteen men with previous wartime service. The camp was held at Ft. Bragg, N. C., which is considered by Army men to have excellent facilities for training artillery personnel. Other training included several spectacular demonstrations of airborne operations given by troops of the 82nd Airborne Division. These included actual parachute jumps and glider drops. Other demonstrations included anti-aircraft firing, strafing with rockets by F-51's of the Air Force and firing of heavy artillery by the Army Field Forces Board. But summer camp is not all just watching soldiers. The cadets along with cadets of 25 other schools and colleges attending the session at Ft. Bragg, received plenty of tough assignments. Besides being in charge of firing problems they actually manhandled the howitzers. There were many tactical problems which the students had to solve as if they were engaged in combat with an enemy. These problems were culminated at the end of camp by a 26 hour exercise in which the ROTC artillery battalions supported an "attack."

Week ends were free for the trainees and they made the most of them. For those with transportation, there were the playgrounds of Myrtle Beach, S. C., and the breakers of Virginia Beach. Nearly Wrightsville Beach claimed its share of ROTC visitors as well. For those who were limited to the post, there were the large swimming club set aside by the Army for exclusive use of the cadets and special parties at the Cadet Service Club and the Ft. Bragg Officers Club.

Experiences during Summer Camp drew the thirteen William and Mary men so close together that although several fraternities were represented in the group the men formed the Centurion Club to perpetuate their friendships and to foster interest in campus ROTC affairs. The most notable achievement of the group was the sponsoring of the Military Ball on March 19. The dance was open to all ROTC cadets and college reserve officers.

This year the first group to complete the course successfully will receive their commissions as second lieutenants in the Field Artillery Reserve. This group includes: Cadet Captains Dudley L. S. Woods, Jr., and Austin T. Flagg; Cadet First Lieutenants Edward D. Brown, Jr., Edgar P. Roberts, Otis L. Garrison and Arthur E. Thompson; Cadet Second Lieutenants Thomas Burt, Winfred Huffman, Bruce MacClure, James Putman, Joseph Lonas, Robert Gleason and Richard Slaughter.

Under the direction of Coach McCray, the Indians posted a season's football record of six wins, two losses, and two ties. The highlight of the season was a 7-7 deadlock with North Carolina. In the post season Delta Bowl game, the Braves rolled over Oklahoma A&M, 20-0. Several of the squad played such outstanding football as to gain berths on the All-State and All-Southern mythical elevens. Tommy Thompson and Jack Cloud obtained positions on the All-Southern team, and Hoitsma, Caughron, Creekmur, and McDowell joined them in securing All-State honors. Cloud was also mentioned on several All-American squads.

The basketball team had a very successful campaign under Coach Barney Wilson; they hung up a 23-7 won-lost record in regular season play. The squad also took part in two post season tourneys. Chet Giermak, All-Southern center, led the nation's scorers with 740 points.

With a string of 59 straight triumphs, the tennis team led by Fred Kovaleski set out to break the national record of 66 straight dual match wins.

FOOTBALL SEASON

William and Mary, 14; Davidson, 6

The season opened with a 14-6 victory over the Wildcats of Davidson College in a night game played at Charlotte, N. C. The first squad played only a short while, in an effort to give the reserves some valuable playing experience. Early in the first quarter the Indians recovered a Davidson fumble on the Wildcat 32 yard line. A moment later this was converted into a touchdown when a Korczowski-to-Hoitsma pass clicked for the first Tribe score of the year. In the second quarter the Indians drove deep into Davidson territory. A fumble, however, halted this advance. Moments later the Indians recovered another Wildcat fumble on the Davidson nine. Korczowski then hit Henry Blanc for the tally and Buddy Lex made his second conversion of the day.

Davidson was not able to score until the last play of the game, on a pass from Lambeth to Cheek. The Wildcats held a statistical advantage, but most of their gains were made while in their own territory or around mid-field. The game was an exploratory one as Coach McCray sought to develop the reserves for some of the tougher games to follow.

Wake Forest, 21; William and Mary, 12

Definitely playing an under par game, the Braves were beaten by a Wake Forest football squad, 21-12, for the first time in history. The Indians were hampered both by their inability to hold on to the ball and by a questionable decision on the part of the referee concerning a potential W&M touchdown by Cloud, in the first half.

The Deacons hit pay dirt in each of the first three periods, running for the first TD and passing for the other two. The first touchdown came as a result of a fumble by the Redmen on their own 16 yard line.

The one bright spot in the encounter was the Indian passing attack. The first tally for the Indians came just before halftime, when Korczowski rifled a pass to wingback Jack Bruce on a play that covered 62 yards. Lex passed to end George Heflin in the final quarter for the other Brave score.

William and Mary, 31; VMI, 0

Angered by an undeserved defeat against Wake Forest, the Indians bounced back to roll over the VMI Keydets and Bobby Thomason, 31-0, in the Oyster Bowl contest at Norfolk. The Braves played an alert, heads-up game; their offense and defense held up well, as the Indians turned in one of their best performances of the year.

Early in the game the pattern was set when Buddy Lex passed to Henry Blanc for 45 yards and the first touchdown. The remainder of the game followed the same pattern, even though the scoring was confined to the first and third quarters.

One of the noteworthy features of the game was the potent air arm the Tribe revealed in Lex and Korczowski. Lex played one of his better games, passing for two touchdowns and setting up another which was ultimately scored by Jack Cloud.

Colin Davis provided the spectacular defensive gem of the afternoon when he overtook Hutchinson, of VMI, on the W&M five yard line to stop a play which had already covered 52 yards. With Thomason doing his utmost—194 yards gained passing—the Braves had to be alert on pass defense. The Braves met the threat adequately and the Keydets were throttled 31-0.

William and Mary, 30; VPI, 0

Running rampant over a hapless Virginia Tech eleven, the Indians annexed an easy 30-0 triumph. The game was played before a homecoming crowd of 15,000 at Blacksburg who had hoped to see VPI score its first touchdown of the year.

Tommy Korczowski, Buddy Lex and Jack Cloud engineered the victory. For Korczowski it was sweet revenge; last season he had suffered a broken ankle at the hands of the Techmen, but this year he scored one touchdown on a brilliant 56 yard punt return through the entire Gobbler team and also passed to Vito Ragazzo and Henry Blanc for other scores. Lex gained over 9 yards per try and punted at an average of 44 yards a kick, while Cloud, the third of the aggressive trio, gained consistently, and personally took the ball over the goal line for the first tally.

The line play was outstanding. On the basis of his performance in this game, Jim McDowell was voted lineman of the week in Virginia. The inept Gobblers only succeeded in entering William and Mary territory four times during the entire game. In all, they gained but 85 yards against the Tribe forward wall. At the same time William and Mary gained 218 yards on the ground.

St. Bonaventure, 7; William and Mary, 6

On October 23, the William and Mary Indians traveled to Olean, N. Y. to play the Brown Indians of St. Bonaventure College. At the outset of the contest, 235-pound Lou Creekmur blocked a Bonnie punt and put the Big Green in scoring position. Jack Cloud piled over for the touchdown several plays later. The kick for the point was no good. On the last play of the first half, a desperation pass clicked to Phil Colella for the tying counter. The kick was good, which gave the Bonnies a slim one-point lead over the lads from the Reservation.

In the second half, the contest turned into a battle royal, with neither team yielding to the thrusts of the other. Excellent punts by the Bonnies kept the Indians' offense completely bottled up in its own territory for most of the second half, and the game ended with W&M on the short end of the 7-6 score. Jack Cloud received considerable mention for his outstanding play in the game, including a letter of congratulations from the St. Bonaventure student body.

William and Mary, 14; Richmond, 6

Homecoming Day 1948 found the Reservation invaded by the Spiders of the University of Richmond for the annual football classic between the two rivals. Coach McCray succeeded in maintaining his unblemished record against Richmond as his squad turned back the Spiders 14-6.

In the first moments of the second quarter, Richmond backs were thrown for a long loss back to the 1 yard stripe. The Richmonders kicked to the 49 yard line. Two plays later Jack Cloud broke off his own tackle and romped 32 yards to the first score. The conversion by Buddy Lex was good, giving the Indians a 7-0 advantage.

The score as the half ended was the same. The Homecoming Day half-time ceremonies were carried out, with the coronation of the queen, Miss Jo Waites, and the introduction of the members of the 1908 football team of the College of William and Mary.

Receiving the kickoff of the second half, the Big Green moved to another tally in eleven plays. Wingback Henry Blanc scored on a reverse which carried 16 yards to pay dirt. In the final period the Spiders scored against the Tribe reserves. A Billingsley to MacLachlan pass accounted for the Spider tally. The attempted conversion was blocked. The final score stood: William and Mary 14, University of Richmond 6.

William and Mary, 7: UNC, 7

November 6 was the high point of the Indians football season. The W&M warriors invaded Chapel Hill, N. C., to battle the nation's number three team, undefeated and untied North Carolina, and came out with a 7-7 tie. This deadlock was indeed a tribute to a staunch line, excellent coaching, and a fighting team spirit.

Striking early in the second quarter, the Indians stunned the Carolina faithful as Tommy Korczowski passed 22 yards to Lou Hoitsma, who made a sensational catch for the touchdown. This play has been acclaimed by many as the play of the year in the Southern Conference. Buddy Lex kicked the all-important extra point and the Tribe led at half-time, 7-0.

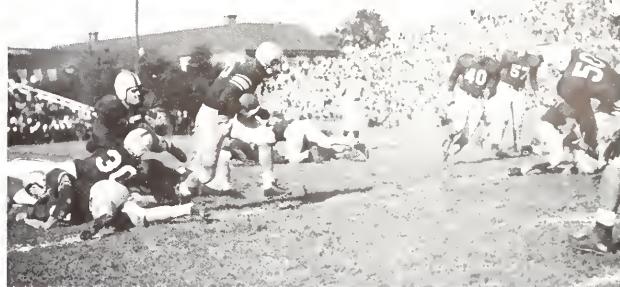

A capacity crowd of 43,000 at Kenan Stadium saw a determined Tarheel eleven come out on the field for the second half. Carolina generated several drives, but most of their yardage was gained between the 30 yard lines. Late in the third quarter, the Tarheels tallied. However, this touchdown came only with the aid of two consecutive 15 yard penalties.

Employing a spread defense to shackle All-American Charley Justice, the Brave forward wall allowed the Carolina fullback, Hosea Rodgers, to gain through the center. The strategy worked well; it gave Carolina a statistical advantage, but Justice was checked for the only time during the regular season. Thompson, Creekmur, and Hoitsma played sterling games in the line. Coach McCray sacrificed his main offensive power in a fruitful effort to hold the mighty Tarheels, by playing his first string line on defense, playing his second string line on offense, and waiting for a break in the game. Excellent kicking by Lex and a successful aerial defense held the Tarheels in check throughout the afternoon.

In the dying moments of the fourth quarter, Indian blocking back Joe Mark intercepted a Carolina pass on the Tarheel 26 yard line and returned it to the Carolina eight. At this point the final whistle blew, thus denying the Indians an opportunity to break the tie.

The entire squad played well and several members received national recognition for their performances. Lou Hoitsma, co-captain, was named the nation's lineman of the week, and Tommy Thompson, All-Southern center, was runner-up to Hoitsma.

William and Mary, 14; Boston College, 14

The Big Green trekked to Boston to face the rugged and fast Boston College eleven on a muddy, rainy field that hampered the lighter Indians. Dominating the play with its immense line, the Boston College Eagles pushed the Indians around until the end of the first quarter, when Henry Blanc grabbed a Boston forward pass and raced 41 yards for the first score. The kick was good.

After halting a 57 yard drive by the Eagles on their own 23, the Indians scored their second touchdown early in the second quarter. A five yard penalty momentarily dampened the hopes of the Tribe, but Jack Bruce went off tackle from his 18 on the next play and scampered 82 yards to score, aided by a key downfield block by Tommy Thompson. The point-after-touchdown was good, and it looked like the Tribe was on the way to routing Boston College. But, on the last play of the first half, Songin loosed a desperation fifty yard toss. Two W&M defenders had the intended receiver well covered, but in their anxiety to stop the play, they deflected the pigskin into the arms of another Bostonian, yards away, who jogged over unmolested.

The two teams battled to a standstill throughout the third quarter as both defensive lines played good ball. Late in the final quarter, another long pass by Boston College placed the football on the William and Mary 2 yard stripe. Poissant crashed over from there for the score. The try for the point was good, and the score was deadlocked at 14-14. Under the constant threat of perhaps the best passer the Braves faced all year, the secondary defense was on its toes. Henry Blanc played well on defense, intercepting several passes. Stalwart line play throttled the Eagle thrusts when they neared pay dirt and enabled the Braves to obtain a well-earned deadlock for the second straight weekend.

William and Mary, 26; N. Carolina State, 6

The Big Green met the North Carolina State Wolfpack on Cary Field for the final home game of the William and Mary season. This game also marked the return of Tommy Korczowski to his brilliant performances of two seasons ago. Three times in the first quarter, Tommy sparked the Big Green to scores. First he tossed a 28 yard pass to Bruce for a score. Moments later, he took a punt from Bruce on a criss-cross play, and ran 74 yards down the sidelines for a second tally. When Tommy Thompson intercepted a State pass shortly after that, Korczowski took to the air again, and completed his scoring pyrotechnics for the day with a five yard toss to Hoitsma in the end zone. At the end of the first quarter, the score was 19-0, W&M.

Late in the third quarter, State, scoring on a number of short flat passes by Ogden Smith, covered the length of the field for a score. This gesture was the best offensive threat the Wolfpack could muster. The fourth tally for the Tribe came in the middle of the final quarter when Jack Bruce snagged a State punt and wove his way 41 yards through the entire State team to the last score of the contest. Buddy Lex again converted and ended the scoring for the contest. Throughout the season, the Indians never demonstrated more ably their great ability as a football team, and this game was a fitting climax to their home season.

William and Mary, 9; Arkansas, 0

Little Rock's Memorial Stadium bulged with more than 30,000 fans on November 29 as William and Mary's Indians put on a fast, aggressive show to trim the Razorbacks and gain sweet revenge for the 21-19 defeat suffered at the hands of these same Porkers in the Dixie Bowl game on January 1, 1948.

Tommy Korczowski continued his scintillating performance of the previous week by contributing to both W&M scores. His 32 yard pass to Bruce in the third period set up a touchdown scored by Flying Jack Cloud. Buddy Lex added the extra point. Soon after the Tribe had tallied, Korczowski kicked out on the one yard line. When Cox, an Arkansas back, tried to punt, Pat Haggerty broke through to block the kick. The ball rolled out of the end zone to give the Indians a safety and the game, 9-0.

Playing before some of his Oklahoma relatives, Jack Cloud, William and Mary's All-American candidate, turned in another shining performance, gaining 70 yards and producing his usual fine defensive game. Cloud was aided by Henry Blanc, who intercepted two Arkansas passes and returned them 56 yards.

Hampered by an epidemic of flu, the William and Mary squad was in a weakened condition for the encounter, but the shrewd juggling of linemen by Coach McCray, together with great team spirit, resulted in a very satisfactory ending of the regular season.

After several seasons of inactivity since the war, freshman football was revived on the William and Mary campus. With three of last year's Virginia high school All-Staters in the backfield as a nucleus, Coach Al Thomas molded one of the best freshman teams the college has ever had. Aggressive and fast, the squad was hampered throughout the season by adverse weather conditions, playing no less than four of its six contests in a sea of mud. This kept down the Papooses' scoring punch and prevented the overall season's record from improving on three wins, two losses, and one tie.

One reason for the good showing of the baby Indians was their fine team play. Coordination on both offense and defense helped the squad over the hump and bodes well for future performances in varsity uniforms. Although there were no stand-out performers on the squad—all performances were creditable—several men deserve special mention. Ted Filer was a power from his fullback post and showed so much skill as a line backer that he may take over the spot Tommy Thompson vacates this year, if he can be taught the tricks of a center. With Filer in the backfield, such men as Weber and Dickie Lewis lent power to the Papoose attack. Between the ends, Balog and Bates, stretched a forward wall that showed great strength for players only in their freshman year.

The only home game of the season was a typical Indian performance. Sparked by a hard-charging line and by an alert pass defense, the Papooses toyed with a strong Duke freshman team and rolled to a 19-7 victory. The breaks of the game cost the freshmen their two losses. Against Navy in an early season game, two Indian scores were nullified, and Wake Forest won its game in the closing seconds of the contest after our freshmen had led throughout the encounter.

The remainder of the season was marked by hard fought contests in which the Papooses showed great power that will be a welcome addition to next year's varsity.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Caughron and the Twin Hostesses

William and Mary, 20; Oklahoma A&M, 0

The Indians of the College of William and Mary journeyed to bowl territory for the second consecutive year, meeting the Cowboys of Oklahoma A&M in the second annual Delta Bowl classic at Crump Stadium in Memphis, Tennessee. A strong finish for the McCray men resulted in a 20-0 win for the Braves.

For the first two quarters and part of the third, the Indians had to content themselves with stopping numerous Aggie thrusts, but once the Tribe offense started rolling, they couldn't be stopped. The Braves scored their first two touchdowns within a single minute, as they scored in the last seconds of the third, and the early seconds of the fourth period. The third score materialized on a break, when massive Lou Creekmur snagged an attempted Aggie flat pass, and lumbered 70 yards to pay dirt. The first two touchdowns resulted from a smooth combination of Tommy Korczowski's passes to Captain Lou Hoitsma and wingback Jack Bruce.

In the first minutes of the game it was a question of how the Indians could stop the concerted thrusts of the heavier Aggies. The Memphis spectators saw the renowned goal line stands of the Braves when three drives of the Cowboys were repulsed inside the ten yard line. The Indian forward wall held on the five, three, and four yard line respectively; after the third W&M stand the Aggies' offense bogged down and failed to provide a real scoring threat for the remainder of the game.

The Tribe began to roll when it recovered an Aggie fumble late in the third quarter and proceeded to hit pay dirt on a march of 75 yards. Jack Cloud was instrumental in this drive, gaining 41 yards in two attempts. Korczowski culminated the drive by hitting Hoitsma with a bullet pass on the goal line. Buddy Lex's attempted conversion was wide.

The Big Green was again in scoring position when they recovered an Aggie fumble on the latter's 23 yard line. Three plays later, Bruce outran the secondary to take Korczowski's looping pass for a tally. Lex converted the extra point and the score was 13-0. At this point the Cowboys generated a strong drive which took them all the way to the William and Mary 30 yard line. Here an attempted Aggie pass back-fired when Lou Creekmur intercepted the ball and went the distance to score. Lex again converted, completing the scoring for the day: 20-0, William and Mary.

Special honors were well-divided as Tommy Thompson, Jack Cloud, Lou Hoitsma, Harry Caughron and others, all turned in excellent performances. The win was the first for a Virginia team in a post-season bowl game.

William and Mary had one of the best basketball teams in its history. A major reason for the 23 won and 7 lost record of the Indian squad was the brilliant playing of All-Southern Chet Giermak. His greatly improved floor play and backboard work brought Giermak a season's average of 21.7 points per game and also the distinction of being named the outstanding and most valuable player in the Southern Conference Tournament. Giermak's 740 point total for the entire season was tops for the nation. These points were acquired by a remarkable shooting percentage of .470.

Several other men made outstanding contributions to the team's success. Charley Sokol's experience was a great asset to the team. He also chipped in with over a ten point average per game for the season. In Jere Bunting and Ed "Fuzz" McMullan, the Indians possess the best set of guards in this area. Bunting, an adroit ballhandler, gave the Braves the necessary element for a fast-breaking team. McMullan was one of the scoring mainstays of the team.

He averaged almost 11 points per game and several times amassed over 20 points; these splurges usually came at a crucial time when the rest of the squad were not scoring too well. Bob Holley was the most improved player on the team. Hampered in previous years by a weakness for fouling out, Holley overcame his difficulty and was a tower of strength under the boards. These five men played most of the season without much relief. At the beginning of the second semester, Bob Benjamin and Sherman Robinson became eligible for varsity competition and furnished some needed reserve strength. Ozenberger, Sherman, Zane, Akers, Lewis, and Siegert rounded out the squad. For the short time they played, Lewis and Zane showed remarkable accuracy from the field.

The Indians maintained throughout the regular season a very high scoring average of 65.0 points per game, as compared to only 47.9 points for the opponents. The Braves ran up scores of over 70 points in 13 different contests. In the best home game of the season, the Indians completed an undefeated home season by routing Washington and Lee 89-46. In doing so, they had a shooting percentage of over .500. During the Christmas vacation, the Braves made a four game northern trip, playing Rider, Villanova, Albright, and Seton Hall. Although losing to Seton Hall by four points, the Indians put on a good show as Giermak paced the team with 27 points. A 69-58 victory over a strong Georgetown quintet showed what the Indians could do against Northern type basketball. The next night, against VMI, the first team scorched the nets in the first half, dropping in 20 out of 27 shots from the floor to assume a 49-20 half-time lead and coasted to an easy 75 to 37 triumph. A week later the Indians tripped the state champs from Hampden-Sydney, 67-56; thereby giving the Tigers their only loss in state competition. Sokol furnished the coup-de-grace that night with his steady play and a last minute scoring flurry which determined the game. Although losing to N. C. State early in February by a 66-52 margin, W&M put up a good fight and only succumbed when All-Southern forward Sam Ranzino dumped in 24 points in the second half. The last game of the season, at Richmond, was marked by a 82-53 drubbing of the Spiders. That night Giermak poured in 30 points to hike his regular season's total for 30 games to 632 points. At other times during the regular season Giermak scored 33, 34, 37, and 45 points in single games. The 45 point total against the University of Baltimore set a new state individual scoring record.

Seeded second in the Southern Conference tournament, W&M edged Davidson, 54-50, in the first round. The next night the Indians engaged in a game with

George Washington that has been called, by some Southern sportswriters, the greatest basketball game in the history of the Conference tournament. The Indians battled furiously through the regular game and three overtimes before going down before the Colonials, 78-74. Giermak turned in what might be termed the best performance of his career, as he paced the Tribe with 36 points, thus setting a new Conference tourney record. The next week the game-weary Indians lost to two of the top flight teams of the country, Xavier and LaSalle, in the Cincinnati Invitational Tournament. Giermak continued his excellent playing by collecting 57 points in the two games.

With a record of 11 wins and 9 losses, the W&M freshman team had a successful season. It was only when the Papooses stepped out of their class and took on several of the better service teams in the area that they ran into trouble. The squad was faced with the difficult task of playing 18 of its 20 games on foreign courts. This experience of playing so many games away from home should prove useful in the future.

The freshman squad exhibited a talent for running up high scores, ending the season with an average of slightly better than 60 points per game. A great many of these points were rung up by the high-scoring trio of Dick Sturgill, Dick Forrest, and John Capp, all of whom scored over 200 points for the season. Charley Broaddus also was an important cog in carrying the team to success. At the beginning of the second semester, the Papooses gained the services of a diminutive guard in the person of Fred Allen, who promised to be a star performer in the next few years. Allen led the team in scoring for the nine games he played, exhibiting a deadly set shot from just outside the foul circle. With all the talent which has appeared on the freshman team, W&M should have depth in varsity basketball for the next few years.

DICK RANDALL

HOWE ATWATER

BILL OZENBERGER

Having run their string of consecutive victories to 59 over a four-year period, Dr. Sharvy G. Unbeck's William and Mary tennis stars completed this past season by winning their second straight national title in the National Intercollegiate Championships at Los Angeles and putting themselves out in front in the Garland Bowl competition. The Indians' doubles combination of Bernard (Tut) Bartzen and Fred Kovaleski took the crown in that division by defeating Bob Perez and Arnold Saul of the University of Southern California. Howe Atwater reached the third round of singles competition before being eliminated by San Francisco's Harry Likas, who went on to take the singles crown, 6-3, 6-1. Bob Galloway went the same distance before falling to Perez.

Earlier in the year, Bartzen and Kovaleski won the doubles championship of the Southern Conference tournament against Victor Seixas and Clark Taylor of the University of North Carolina, 9-11, 4-6, 8-6, 7-5, 6-2. By taking this title the Tribesmen divided individual conference honors with Carolina. Seixas, in the singles final, beat Kovaleski 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. The William and Mary team dominated the tournament. Atwater, number three man for the Indians, reached the quarter finals before being eliminated by Seixas. Bob Doll got into the semifinals where he was defeated by Kovaleski. Galloway and Doll reached the semifinals only to be defeated by the top Carolina duo.

William and Mary opened its season by triumphing over Michigan State, 5-1 and 9-0, and shellacking Albright 9-0. The Tribesmen then proceeded to wal-

The championship tennis squad from Williamsburg had its biggest scare of the year against the University of North Carolina. Finding themselves down 1-4 at the end of five singles matches, they put on a rally which enabled them to win 5-4 and add number 55 to their victory string. The contest was in doubt until Howe Atwater and Jim Macken finally came through to win the third doubles encounter.

Starting out with the Utah State tournament, followed by the Colorado State tournament, they teamed up with Tulane's Jack Tuero and former Indian star Gardner Larned at the National Clay Courts championships. The tennis grind was concluded at the Forest Hills National Singles championship, where Kovaleski bowed to Earl Cochell in five sets.

Despite the loss of Tut Bartzen and Bob Doll, the Indians still had a strong nucleus around which to build the 1948-49 tennis team. Jim Macken captained the team and Fred Kovaleski played number one. Others returning from last year's squad were Randall, Atwater, Chennault, Ozenberger, and Fricke. Sam Wood, Howson Cole and other newcomers provided extra strength for the team.

A difficult 27 game schedule faced Orlin Rogers in his first year as head baseball mentor of the Indians. The slate included games with North Carolina, Duke, N. C. State, and the All-Service champs, the Quantico Marines. The Tribesmen were out to better their impressive 1948 record of eleven wins and five defeats.

Prospects for a successful season were high, with lettermen from last year's team returning to almost every position. The outfield was patrolled by such reliables as Olaf Hedman, Sherman Robinson, the leading Indian batter in 1948, and Ken Wright. The infield was stronger than ever with the snappy keystone combination of All-Southern Tommy Korczowski and Paul Webb holding forth at short and second, and fancy—fielding Bob Ward—a sure thing for first Pitching was adequately handled by such veterans as Bob Gill, Jim Stewart, Randy Mallory, Hi Wardwell, and Curt McSheiry. "Snooky" Robertson and Ed Magdziak were available to fill Leo Brenner's shoes at third base. Sherman Robinson handled catching duties.

TRACK

CAPTAIN SCOFIELD and COACH THOMAS

Coach Al Thomas will have Captain Dick Scofield and fifteen other lettermen on hand for his 1949 track team. Undertaking the toughest track schedule ever attempted at William and Mary, Thomas' team will, however, probably suffer from a lack of depth.

Last year's team, which copped four out of seven dual meets in the first postwar revival of the sport, was led by Captain Francis McFall, former Southern Conference sprint champion and the team's high point man. Several men showed great promise in 1948, such as Sophomore star Clyde Baker, Dick Scofield, Sam Lindsay, and Bob Lawson. The weight men, particularly Harry Wenning, state javelin champ, Lou Creekmur, who broke the college shot put record, George Hughes, and Lou Hoitsma, showed great possibilities.

The surprise of the 1948 season was the copping of second place in the state meet. With several individual stars returning, our 1949 squad may be on par with the great track teams of the early thirties.

Twelve matches, half of them on the Williamsburg course, were scheduled for this, the second postwar season of the Indian golf team. Several outstanding opponents, including Amherst, Navy, and N. C. State, were on the slate.

Coach W. S. (Pappy) Gooch had four returning lettermen—Doug Weiland, Ward Donohue, Bob Conkey, and Mark McCormack. He also had several promising newcomers on his squad, two of whom were sophomores, Wray Sherman and Bob Hendrich.

CROSS COUNTRY

William and Mary's second postwar cross-country team had a very successful season, winning its four dual meets and placing fourth in the Southern Conference meet. Coached by Al Thomas and Francis McFall, the harriers had only one close call. Clyde Baker and his running mates, Lindsay and Lawson, sparked the team to its all-successful season. Hampered by the loss of Carter, Hedman, and Roy from last year's team, the coaches found adequate replacements in DeSamper, Hawkins, Day, and Riley.

In the initial meet of the season against Randolph-Macon, Clyde Baker broke the 4½ mile course record at W&M. Following this win, they defeated Davidson and Richmond in two close contests. The Indians' successful ventures in the Southern Conference meet in Maryland and in a dual meet with Quantico rounded out the season.

SWIMMING

The 1948-49 swimming team, coached by Bill Harbour, began its campaign by traveling to Duke to meet the powerful Blue Devils. They returned to the Reservation with a loss on their record; this was followed by two home meets, which also found the Indian tankmen on the short end of the scores. Ultimately, Harbour's charges ended with a record of one win and eight losses. The win was gained against the arch-rivals, the Spiders of Richmond.

Consistent point-getters of the Tribe tank team were Vic Janega, Jack Morgan, Pete deWitt, Al Fitzgerald, Captain Jake Stevens, and Wally Riley.

The freshman team ended its season with a 1-3 record. Assurance of competent members of future squads was shown Coach Harbour by his first year charges. He looks forward to next year with high hopes that the team will regain its strong pre-war standing.

INTRAMURALS

This year has been marked by a very broad and successful year of intramural activity. The program was planned under the direction of Howard Smith and Bob Steckroth.

Last year's intramural champion, Sigma Rho, found competition a little tougher this year. PiKA annexed the football championship, beating O. D. "A" in the interleague playoffs. Gondelman, Hethcock, Barnes, Boys, Anthony, and Stan Garrison were the last six men to remain in the tennis tourney. SAE nosed out PiKA to take top honors in the swimming meet. KA and Sigma Rho proved to be the class of the Fraternity Basketball circuit. Competition has been keen in both the Fraternity and Independent league; no team has been able to dominate more than one or two of the different events. Novelty was added to intramural activity when a faculty basketball team took on the honorary organization, ODK; the Greybeards won 31-29.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association aids in providing a planned program of sports for women students of the campus. The WAA is composed of representatives from the faculty and the students. The faculty members are Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Miss Marion Reeder, Miss Martha Barksdale, and Dr. Caroline Sinclair. Student members include Virginia Murphy, president; Betty Hicks, secretary; Fran House, point recorder; and Millie Riddle, intramural director. The WAA put out a monthly bulletin this year on women's sports on campus. In contrast to previous years, only four sports—tennis, swimming, softball, and basketball—were engaged in on a team basis; the remaining sports were open tournament and were marked by individual participation. Bowling was among the list of activities for the first time; other events included badminton, ping-pong, archery, fencing, and hockey.

First Row: House, Murphy, Hicks. Second Row: Miss Wynne-Roberts, Miss Barksdale.

The Women's Athletic Association sponsors all intercollegiate and intramural activities for the women students. The purpose of this organization is to provide a well-rounded program of sports to meet the needs of the women students and to offer many opportunities along varied lines for both participation and recognition. All the women students are members of the WAA, and the authority of the association is vested in the Joint Committee of which Miss Marguerite Wynne-Roberts is chairman, and Miss Martha Barksdale and Miss Marion Reeder are faculty members. Student officers of the association were Virginia Murphy, president; Frances House, point recorder; and Betty Hicks, secretary. Dr. Caroline Sinclair and Mildred Riddle, student head of intramurals, sit with the committee as ex-officio members.

The women's intercollegiate basketball team showed marked improvement over the previous year's sextet. Early season victories were recorded over Sweet Briar and Roanoke. The team ended their season by playing Notre Dame in Baltimore. The squad was composed mainly of freshmen.

Juanita Pomeroy was the highscorer for the varsity and Ludy Hoover was manager. Other regulars included forwards B. J. Reavis, Ann Huffman, Lee Riggins, Nancy Alexander, and guards Fran House, Avery Leavitt, Nancy Jackson, and Phyllis DeHaven.

In Intramurals, the Jefferson sextet was victorious, followed closely by Kappa Kappa Gamma and Barrett Hall. B. J. Reavis and Ann Huffman paced the championship Jefferson team. Kappa standouts were Jeanne Bamforth, who scored 149 points to win the League scoring crown, and Millie Riddle, while Helen Wesson and Marie Hasher paced the Barrett team.

The fencing season opened with a tri-meet in the fall between the Alumnae, a faculty team and the members of the Fencing Club. Three new fencers joined the club this year—Terri Campbell, Janet Vaughan, and Betty Riggins. These new members plus the old guard of the club, under the presidency of Janet Pierce, supplied the power of the William and Mary Fencing Team.

The early part of the second semester saw a Fencing Sports Day on March 12 that climaxed a week of fencing activity. At this time the W&M girls had the good fortune of receiving instruction from Miss Julia Jones, an Olympic fencer of 1932. Another three way meet was held early in March with the alumnae, the Fencing Club of W&M, and the Tri-Weapon Club from Baltimore participating. Fencing has always been a point of interest with William and Mary girls and the meets this year went a long way towards bringing the sport back to its heights of a few years ago.

Leavitt, Jackson, House, deSparre, Hitchcock, deMurgiondo, Hanson, Gray.

The Women's Swimming Team at William and Mary, reorganized after a lapse of two years, engaged in the Intercollegiate Telegraphic Meet this year. Fran House, Nancy Jackson, Olga deSparre, Pat Hitchcock, and Elinor Hanson were the mainstays of the team in this meet and the two intercollegiate meets in which the mermaids engaged. Fran House captained the squad.

As usual intramural swimming created a great deal of competition and interest. In a hard fought fall meet, Chi Omega grasped first place with the help of Jane Atwater. Jefferson, led by Avery Leavitt and Nancy Jackson, copped second place honors. Barrett's Fran House and Theta's Nancy Gouldman helped their teams to third and fourth spots respectively. As in many other sports this year, dorm teams are giving the sorority girls a strong fight for honors.

O R C H E S I S

Under the leadership of president Delores (Dee) Curry and Miss Sophia Saunders, new director, Orchesis started making preparations early in the fall for the annual Modern Dance Recital, which was presented to an enthusiastic audience on March 2nd and 3rd. The performance was later repeated by the group at Eastern State Hospital on March 10th.

Traveling to the Women's College of North Carolina in Greensboro, the dancers presented selections from this year's edition of the annual recital at the Fine Arts Symposium on March 18th and 19th.

Two of the outstanding numbers of the 1949 performance were "Spellbound," which featured Dee Curry and "The Lady and the Bum," interpreted by Jean Phillips and Jean Cutler. Certainly one of the highlights of the show was a dream sequence entitled "Willie the Weeper," which enabled the group to present several types of dances in one integrated form.

Some of the other members who performed singly were Sally Obitz, Lois Settle, and Mary Harrington. Dee Curry combined with Nancy Leigh Hall to dance an Indian number.

Other members of the club who took part in the recital include Marianna Brose, Barbara Campbell, Hunter deMurgiando, Evelyn Gardner, Lucille Gerber, Ann Giesen, Sue Green, Carolyn Williams, Billie-Jo Hickman, Carolyn Hooper, Bobbie Lamont, Ina Seville, Elaine Speaker, and Jan Summers.

First Row: Curry, Speaker, Hall, Schwann, Settle, Phillips, Giesen, Parthenis. Second Row: Harrington, Hooper, Saville, Gardner, Williams, deMurgiando, Hickman.
